FYS 104 How Art Made the World
- Friday, 1:00 – 2:15 p.m.
- This seminar is an introduction to the history of art and its influence on the development of culture. Students will be exposed to the processes of art making through a historical look at human creativity.

FYS 109 Women and the Law
- Thursday, 1:00-2:15 p.m.
- This seminar will explore the evolution of the legal protection and empowerment of women in the United States. Students will study current legal issues that directly affect the lives of women in American society. Students will become more aware of women’s legal issues and will critically analyze whether such laws are applied in a fair and consistent manner.

FYS 110 Science and Sustainability
- Tuesday, 9:25 – 10:40 a.m. or Wednesday, 1:00 – 2:15 p.m.
- This seminar will explore the current state of the global environment and the concept of sustainability in order to increase the students’ understanding of the earth's limited capacity to support all forms of life and to provide for the needs of human society. Students will investigate opportunities to reduce negative environmental impacts and formulate innovative improvements.

FYS 113 Hunger and Service Learning
- Wednesday, 2:30 – 3:45 p.m.
- Hunger and Service Learning focuses on understanding and working to address the causes of hunger in the Omaha community. Students will be asked to critically analyze course readings, films, and presentations to develop their own view of the causes of food insecurity in Omaha. The class will participate in a service-learning project.

FYS 115 Financial Literacy & Stewardship
- Tuesday, 1:00-2:15 p.m.
- This seminar is built on the premise that life is filled with choices which reflect personal values. Those who have the skill-sets to identify good choices and take advantage of them have the power to better their lives and positively affect the society around them. This seminar provides students with a foundation in career life-planning and goal-setting. Students will explore methods to balance action with good financial decisions.

FYS 118 The Psychology of Good & Evil
- Monday, 2:30 – 3:45 p.m.
- This course will examine what developmental and social psychology research has discovered about when and why people engage in good versus evil thoughts, feelings, and behaviors.