Pediatric and Neuromuscular DPT Faculty

College of Saint Mary is currently inviting applications for a full-time 12-month non-tenured faculty appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor rank to teach in the pediatric and neuromuscular tracks in the blended learning Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) Program in Omaha, NE. This DPT program is completed in 2.5 years and uses a combination of online and face-to-face learning experiences to educate future practitioners. The blended learning model allows faculty and students to live remotely from campus. However, DPT faculty must travel to and stay in Omaha for designated periods each semester.

The successful candidate's responsibilities include:

- Developing and teaching courses related to pediatric and neuromuscular physical therapy, emphasizing examination and intervention of patients/clients with movement dysfunctions;
- Participating in faculty-led student research projects, assist with mentoring in related areas of expertise within the CSM DPT Clinical Education Program, and serving as a clinical instructor in the integrated clinical education experiences.
- Developing and sustaining an independent research agenda.

Our Ideal Candidate's Education and Experience:

- Graduate of an accredited physical therapist education program
- A terminal academic degree (PhD, EdD, DHSc)
- Should be licensed or eligible for licensure in Nebraska
- Member of the American Physical Therapy Association
- Prior teaching experience in a physical therapist or physical therapist assistant education program
- Graduate of an accredited pediatric or neurologic residency program preferred
- Board Certified Pediatric and Neurologic Clinical Specialist
- Minimum of 5 years of experience as a licensed physical therapist
- Able to work with students with special needs based on the Americans with Disabilities Act
- Prior teaching experience in distance education preferred
- Knowledge of educational management and adult learning theories and principles

Application:

CSM is committed to building a diverse educational environment. During the application process, please be prepared to upload a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy (including information on ways in which your inclusive pedagogy contributes to building and supporting diverse communities), and current contact information for three professional references.
